English-Heavyweight Champion To Visit United States

BOMBARDIER WELLS

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Bombarrier Wells, the heavyweight champion of England, sails March 2 for the United States. Wells is considered the "Sir George Alexander of the ring" over here, being tall, clean cut and with the face of a Greek god. He is the picture of a man and a decided favorite with the fair members of society. Wells jumped into prominence when he defeated "Porky" Flynn, the American pugilist. At that encounter the arena was well filled with titled ladies; in fact, more of the weaker sex were present than the sterner gender.

Wells enjoys the reputation of being the first pugilist that became a society craze. He declares that his trip abroad is strictly a pleasure jaunt, but it is hinted that he may arrange for a match with Jack Johnson, the world's champion. Wells was matched to first Johnson here last year, but the battle was prevented owing to strong public disapprobation. In the opinion of Eugene Corri, the famous referee, Wells has a big chance of beating Johnson on account of his youth, clean living and skill.

SIGNING PLAYERS IS TASK MANAGERS FIND DELICATE

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—Signing up a lot of major league ballplayers is not an employment to be relished by sensitive men. As there is no set scale of prices for ball players, every manager tries to pull down all the money in sight and is sure to be on the offensive when doing business with the magnates.

When Jimmie McAlleer and Johnny Ward took hold of the Boston club this winter the most difficult problem in sight was signing up a small army of young and old players. It was a new business for Ward, although he recruited the players that went to the Brooklyn club in 1890. Things have changed since then and the young untried players are not behind the door when it comes to demanding the fancy price for their work.

Jimmie McAlleer signed up the players for the St. Louis Americans the first year the Mount City had a club but was given unlimited capital to work with. Since then he has passed up the signing of ball players.

The manager of a ball team should never be called on to sign up the men, as he must be free to handle the boys in the field and is supposed to favor the player, good, bad or indifferent, when it comes to the salary question. This work is up to the president, and as both Ward and McAlleer have been raised to the highest position in the gift of their respective clubs, it was up to them to get the players in line, along the lines mapped out by the owners or board of directors.

After dishing out just what the club would be willing to give the men in the way of salary, it is the duty of the executive board to write a pleasant letter to each player, using strict diplomacy. To an old, tried player the letter might read something like this: "My Dear McCuskey:—They tell me here that your work last season with the Boston club was first satisfactory. I intend to run the club on a business basis and give every player what I consider he will be worth to the club. I would like to hear from you naming the very lowest terms. Hoping that you have been enjoying your long winters rest, I remain yours, etc."

Young Player is "Easy" The young player, partially tried out, receives a letter saying that the club will see that he receives a substantial salary if he makes good but that up to the present he has shown little to warrant a very large stipend for his work. The veteran seldom answers. The young player drops a line to say that he knows he will make good and would like to receive the same kind of a salary that the other players command. Then it is up to the president to send out the contracts with a blank space left for the player's autograph.

The young player is anything but satisfied but soon returns the contract signed with a note saying that he is much pleased to be with the club and feels sure the club will do much better next season. The president smiles and remarks: "I rather like the tone of McCuskey's letter and predict the youngster will show something next season. It gives a little more work. Sitting on the bench never made a ball player, and believe me there will be no shirking with me next season."

Wants To Feather Nest

The old player with a few good years left is figuring on a few investments. In the fall he is favored with a goodly sum of money to pay off some mortgage or pay down a little advance on a piece of property. The club may endorse his note with no security and do the players many favors. Later the same player will want a little advance money but when the contract arrives naming the old figure and princely figures at that, there is no answer, and the magnate does some thinking.

Now and then some new league is talked of and the player smiles. The magnate writes another letter and receives a reply saying that there was no use in considering the matter any further. "If you don't care to give me the money I ask for, sell my release to some other club. I know for a fact that several clubs will pay me my price."

Star players must be handled with velvet gloves and the magnates start out to write more friendly letters. A slight inducement may land a few of the holdouts. It depends how the boys are fixed and just how strong they are with the press and public. There is nothing lost by holding out, as salaries do not commence until the opening of the regular season. The reserve rules holds the player, no other club will talk business, and the player who refuses to go with the team to train is subject to a fine by the national commission.

Many Go South Unsigned At least one third of the old players will go south unsigned and talk the matter over with the club's officers at the training camps. The magnates have no more unpleasant duty to perform than signing up the ball players each season, simply because the

WARREN FANS ARE READY FOR GAMES WITH ALL COMERS

Fans Have Organized the First Baseball Team of Season

PRACTICED SUNDAY

If the baseball fans are not treated to a season-opener ball game in the near future it will not be the fault of Warren. The fans of that city have organized a team and have thrown down the gauntlet to any team in the Warren district.

The Warren team to the natural eye resembles somewhat the Callahan Colts of last season, in fact seven of the eleven men are members of last year's Colt aggregation. That fact makes it certain that any team that accepts Warren's challenge, which is hereby given, will have a full grown proposition on its hands. The Warren team has shown a disposition to start something and if the other towns of Bisbee and Lowell meet them half way, there will be something mixing at the Warren park. The line up of the Warren team is as follows:

Ross Chapman, pitcher. Joe Chapman, first base. Donald Allen, second base. Frank Chapman, short stop. Gill, right field. J. Chapman, center field. Buchanan, left field. Kelly, catcher. Woods and Callahan, utilities. The Warren team held a practice last Sunday morning and found the old colts spirit working. After the game they decided to include Tucson, Douglas, Cananea or any other southern Arizona team in the challenge.

Salaries of the ball players range from $2,000 a year to $5,000.

There is no good reason why the ball players, out of condition, should ask the clubs to send them to Hot Springs long before the time for reporting. When a ball player is so far gone or out of shape that he must go to the water resorts a month ahead of time he should pay his own expenses. I know that several players have gone to Hot Springs at the club's expense late in February, or early in March, to enjoy themselves and paid little or no attention to training.

President John Ward will gather around him this spring a number of young players, with no experience in either minor league or college baseball. In this way Mr. Ward hopes to pick up a few "phenoms." It looks to me like a waste of time. The country is crowded with clever players that can be secured for a small sum of money and the time is fast passing when major league clubs can make anything out of this nursing game. Let the minors have a chance at the youngsters. They will give the boys a chance to show their worth while the majors waste lot of time and seldom win out.

Jimmie McAlleer is playing a different card from Ward. He is picking out only the boys who have made a mark with the minors and have long since thrown away the nursing bottle.

WOMEN ASSESSORS TO BE TRIED IN SPOKANE

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 6.—Glen R. Creighton, assessor of Spokane county, has appointed seven women to handle household assessments in Spokane this spring. They will begin work early in March at $3 a month, the same as is paid to men. Forty-two men have been appointed for this city. It is likely that a number of women will be named deputy assessors for the 18 incorporated towns in this county. This is the first time that women have been called upon to share in this work with men. Mr. Creighton says his appointees are married women of good business ability and he predicts they will do the work in a satisfactory way. "If they do as well as we expect," he added, "I see no reason why they should not have equal chances with men in this kind of work." Mrs. D. B. Hirschfeld, the first woman appointed, probably will be chief deputy. The others are: Mrs. Lucille Van Ness, Mrs. L. M. Donaldson, Mrs. H. S. Golden, Mrs. Mary A. Welch, Mrs. Emma McClellan and Mrs. M. G. Plough.

AN EXCELLENT PERFORMANCE

J. M. Bushy's Minstrels played to a crowded tent last night. They were by far the best minstrels that ever visited the city under canvas. They have an excellent performance, especially the acrobatic features and the dancing, while the old time minstrel performance and songs delighted the audience. They carry a fine band and are a musical, talented crowd. —Yates Center Advocate. Lowell, Feb. 7 and 8.

NEW GYMNASIUM DEDICATED

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 6.—The new gymnasium of the International Young Men's Christian association Training school was dedicated this afternoon with interesting exercises. Dr. Luther Halsey Gulick, director of the Y. M. C. A. Foundation, was one of the principal speakers.

A WOMAN'S GOOD LOOKS

Depend on her general health and freedom from pain. Many a woman looks old before her time because of those irregularities which are essentially feminine. Starting from early womanhood, she suffers from frequently recurring derangements that upset her womanly health. If she be beautiful she grows into that mellow age without wrinkles and crowfeet about the eyes or the blue circles underneath. It is invariably the rule that such women suffer little, or not at all, from womanly derangements which sap the health and leave in the face the tell-tale story of pain and suffering. Dr. R. V. Pierce, the famous specialist in the diseases of women, found a prescription in his early practice that soothed the organism peculiar to womanhood—oiled the machinery, as it were, of the human system—and helped the woman to pass those painful periods that scar-lined and aged her face. This remedy became the well-known Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, that has benefited thousands of women and saved them from misery and suffering at different periods in life.

Mrs. Harkley E. Pierce.

Mrs. HARKLEY E. PIERCE, of 244 Bright Street, Sarnia, Ont., writes: "I am now a well woman after suffering for three years and doctoring with several different doctors, each one saying it was something different, and the last one, after putting me through a thorough examination, said I was suffering from a growth, which, in time, would result in cancer, and I would not live more than two years if not operated upon right away. I became hopelessly discouraged but would not consent to the operation as I was too weak and too much afraid, but at last, through the advice of a friend, I tried Dr. Pierce's medicine, and after using two bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' I immediately felt a change. I also used two boxes of 'Healing Suppositories' and eight boxes of 'Lotion Tablets,' and can safely praise the name of Dr. Pierce's medicines to all who suffer from any female disease, for these medicines are all they are claimed to be, and I hope will help others as they have helped me."

HONORS ARE WON BY WARREN GOLF TEAM

Douglas Visitors Are Able to Halve One and Win But Five

Once they were mighty and arrogant, and did lord it over the hill men, did the lowlanders. But this was in the days gone by, for no longer are they feared. It is not that their prowess is less than of yore, but that the highlanders have gained a great prowess and have become confident in that purpose. It is not warfare, battle or bloodshed to which the foregoing remark is applied, quite the contrary, for it is to one of the most peaceful of pursuits, to sport and to recreation, to the fascinating game of golf. Furthermore, the terms used are not applied to the canny Scots of the old country, but to local devotees of the game of "gowf," to the players of the Douglas and the Warren District Country Clubs.

On Sunday Douglas sent twenty representatives to Warren for a match. The results of days in the past were reversed, and Warren won 14 to 5. True, it was not the strongest team that Douglas could organize, but that played this match, but a year or two ago, that was not deemed necessary. Now it is another story.

The matches played Sunday resulted as follows: Sherman, 1, Carl Smith 0; Zuesener 0, Drake 1; Pelton 0, Fortin 0; (match halved); Popen 0, French 1; Lewis 0, Robinson 1; Yousum 1, Hooper 0; Chapman 0, Iverson 1; Fraser Campbell 1, T. M. Smith 0; Nash 1, Badger 0; Gohring 1, Foster 0; Nolman 1, Landis 0; Milton 0, W. Smith 1; Curry 1, Rae 0; M. J. Brophy 1, Strodthoff 0; Williamson 1, Beat 0; Reesler 1, Lawhon 0; Hamilton 1, Elliot 0; Lennert 1, McKee 0; Whitley 1, Taylor 0; Beckett 1, Hooper 0. In the afternoon there were some foursomes played, and an impromptu musicale was held in the club house, following the luncheon that was served to the visitors.

It was expected that a number of ladies would be with the visitors, but only four made up this party.

GOLF EXPERTS WOULD MEET ANY IN WORLD

Broad Challenge for a Foursome Match Is Sent Forth

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The latest challenge in foreign golf circles to cause considerable talk is that of the two British professionals George Duncan and Tom Ball. The challenge of these experts is made world wide and is for a four ball match. Relative to this announcement a foreign authority makes the following comment:

"Their records say that they have seldom played in public without springing a surprise of one sort or another on the spectators, and in a match of the sort specified the capacity to spring surprises is almost as valuable as steadiness. The rules of golf state that the game is played by two parties, each playing his own ball. Therefore those who maintain that multiball affairs are not golf in the strictest sense of the word are not correct. If they go further and say that such games are never worth playing they are wrong, for golfers of the highest skill the four ball match is, it may be surmised, dull."

Before the ball is struck from any tee the probability is that the hole about to be played will be halved, for it is unlikely that both partners composing the side will break down in driving or approaching. The sole effect produced by the worst of errors in the longer shots is that at the hole one has two chances of getting down a put, the other only one. Golf being, as has been shrewdly remarked, a game of risks, it follows that its character is entirely altered when serious risk does not occur until the balls have been played on to the putting green. The probability is that the greater the sum total of the figures attached in the club's handicap list to the names of the parties engaged in a four ball match the more enjoyable does it become and the greater the importance of the result.

A Druggist's Favorite Kidney Remedy—Cured Himself.

Fifteen years ago I had an attack of acute kidney trouble. I consulted a physician, who gave me medicine which only relieved me for a time. After discontinuing his medicine, my trouble returned as severe as before. Having heard of Swamp-Root, I gave it a trial, and can honestly state that three dollar bottles cured me, never having had any sickness in fifteen years. I have sold Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root as a druggist for many years, and can give it the very best of recommendations at all times.
